Coolidge was such nice and funny man. My late sister, Brenda Evans, was really good friends with him and always shared her home-made Christmas candies and cookies with him. He and his older brother, Curtis, had been good friends with our late father, Lee Roy Cureton, so he always told us stories about their antics in the good old days. I don't live in Newport anymore but will always look for him when I do go to Food City. RIP you dear man...you were one of a kind!
