Shysti I love you! I can hear your voice and see that smile. You will never be forgotten. Your friendship I cherished because we didn't see eye to eye at first. And we had mountains to climb before we ever became friends. There was nothing that would ever break up our friendship. That's a real friend. You were a great friend. I'm sure gonna miss ya!

Julie and girls I can look back and remember when Shysti and Niki were in high school all the silly things they would ask or come up with. Both are together now Niki did make it right with our Lord before she left this world I feel Shysti had time to do the same. So they're together with the Lord happy and no more problems. I pray you can find comfort at some point. This is the hardest thing we have to do is let go of our baby/mom. If you need me I'm not far away.

Shysti was very young when I first met her. Mom was making her toast with brown sugar and butter... Her life matters to us and most of all Jesus loves us. He said you are mine I have redeemed you....
